Rhode Island Ball Twirlers Take First Three Consecutive Games Of Baseball Season

Rhody Wins from "Stein" Boys in Fast 10th Inning

Winsor; Final Score Is
6-5

Rhode Island State College started its baseball season by pinning a 6 to 5 defeat on the University of Maine, in an exciting ten inning game.

Rhody took a 3 to 2 lead in its half of the third inning and held this lead until the fifth when Maine tied the score. Rhody regained the lead in the seventh but lost it once more when the "Stein" men staged a last inning rally which netted them two runs and placed them in a 5 to 4 lead. Rhody tied the score in its half.

Ackroyd, Rhody's pitching ace, who started on the mound, pitched an excellent ball game until the beginning of the tenth, when he was relieved by Ken Goff, in order to save him for the Northeastern game. Goff made the first three batters hit to the infield for easy putouts.

Paul Winsor, first man up in the tenth reached first on a bad throw. Lettieri also reached first on an error by Plummer, advancing Winsor to second. After Dobosynski and Smith flied out and struck out respectively, Capt. "Matty" Kearns proved to be a

Rhody's Amateurs Present Praiseworthy Production for a Record Crowd

"Little Rhody's 1930 Revue," postponed three weeks ago, was presented before a packed house on Thursday, April 24.

The production, the annual presentation of the Rhode Island State College Players, was as usual under the direction of that able coach and producer, Mrs. Roy Rawlings.

The program consisted of the revue itself and two plays, "The Privy Council" by Richard Pryce and Major Drury, and a fantasy, "Poor Madalena," by Louise Saunders.

The revue was written by Mrs. Rawlings with the help of students, and many of the musical numbers were composed by one of the cast, George Shafan.

The story centers around the "best" fraternity at Kingston and is replete with humor concerning the college life.

Much credit is due to Amy Arbogast for her work with the costumes and to Professor Ralph Brown, who arranged the music for the production.

Before the final scene Mrs. Rawlings personally presented keys for faithful service to Edith Littlefield, Catherine MacKay, Albert D'Orsi, Edmund Cappuccelli, Louis Bellavia and George Shafan.

Turla Starts Against Bates

Is Relieved by Goff and Carr; Score Is 7-6

Acting as a relief hurler for the second time in as many days, Ken Goff pitched the baseball team to a victory over Bates by the score of 7 to 6.

Rhode Island started the scoring when both "Matty" Kearns and "Ken" Potter were walked, followed by the first home run of the season, which was made by "Ken" Goff. One more run was scored in the first inning by Winsor.

Freshmen Win Track Meet

Westerly High and Providence Tech Beaten; Modeliszewski Is Outstanding Trackster

The Rhody Frosh came through to win their second track meet of the season when they defeated Providence Tech and Westerly High in a triangular meet. Frosh 64, Tech 47, and Westerly 15.

The summary:

Barnatowich Pitches Fine Game Is Replaced by Ackroyd in Sixth; Score Is 8-7

Rhode Island won its third consecutive baseball game when they defeated Northeastern University in an interesting nine inning game, by the score of 8 to 7.

Coach Keaney's men took the lead in the first inning when they scored four runs. It was in this inning that Captain Flaherty made his home run drive. Potter reached first, followed by a hit off "Ken" Goff's bat which sent Potter to third. "Jigger" Lazarek hit a three bagger sending in Potter and Goff. The last run of the inning was made when "Shorty" Mike Lettieri singled sending in Lazarek.

Barnatowich, who started on the mound, held the visitors until the sixth, when they scored four runs to tie the score. After MacDonald scored for Northeastern, Grosz and MacMullen reached bases and both scored when Carter hit a triple. Carter scored when Nutter hit a single over third. Coach Keaney sent in Ackroyd for Barnatowich at the start of the seventh. Ackroyd

Phi Beta Chi Holds Banquet

Eighth Annual Banquet Held in East Hall; The Guest of Honor Is Coach Keaney

Phi Beta Chi held its eighth annual banquet at East Hall last Saturday evening. There were many alumni present from various parts of the Eastern States. Charles Wales, '21, of Long Island, N. Y., acted as toastmaster. The first to speak was Prof. C. Lester Coggins, faculty advisor, who expressed the feeling of loss experienced by all upon the death of the late President Edwards. This was the first Phi Beta Chi banquet held in several years, at which Dr. Edwards had not been the guest of honor. Both active members and alumni feel the loss.

Coach Frank Keaney, guest of honor, was the next speaker, and with his characteristic humor gave an interesting speech on the relation of the fraternity and alumni to college athletics.

Change in the Constitution Contemplated

Beacon Board Finds it Advisable to Make Some Slight Changes in Official Constitution; Four Changes and Additions to Be Made

Following the action of a committee appointed by the editor to make some necessary revisions in the Beacon Constitution it was found to the satisfaction of the entire board that the changes recorded below would be very desirable in order to perfect more harmony among the staff and create more enthusiasm among them. Abiding by the constitutional requirement that all amendments be published in a regular Beacon before such amendments be added, this opportunity is taken in order to make public the expected changes.

Article Six, Section 2, Part D, which reads "A majority vote of the combined board shall be necessary to elect the new members to the News Board," will be changed to read as follows: "A majority

Two College Records Are Broken; Meet Undecided Until Final Event

Little Rhody was nosed out by one measly point by Brown, when the Bruin team won the annual track meet by a 68-67 score. Roy set a new R. I. record when he defeated Huse of Brown in the half-mile; the time being 1 4-5 seconds faster than Dring's mark set in 1927. Knight made an excellent showing when he won the 440 and then placed third in the 220-yard dash. Howie Droitcour failed by a 1-2 inch to beat his mark of 11 feet 3 inches in the pole vault. Rhody came through to make a clean sweep in the hammer throw with Joe Murgo leading the field. Dick Howes was just nosed out of a first in the high hurdles, after stumbling over the next to the last hurdle, but he scored another three points when he ran second to "Pinky" Intas in the low hurdles. Rhody garnished seven first places to Brown's eight, which was rather even.

The summary:
100-yard dash — Won by Troy (B.); second Diamond (B.); third, Goff (R. I.). Time 10 2-5 seconds.

120-yard hurdles — Won by Sawyer (B.); second, Howes (R. I.); third, Thompson (R. I.). Time 16 3-5 seconds.

Junior Prom Goers to Dance in A Spanish Garden

McEnelly's Victor Recording Orchestra to Be Featured; Favors and Patrons Chosen

The scholastic year of 1929-1930 is rapidly drawing to a close, and May, the month of sunshine, flowers and lazy days, has arrived. When May is mentioned, one immediately thinks of Junior Week with its Prom, Junior Week play, Interscholastic track meet and house dances, three days of play for everyone and more especially for the members of the Junior class.

The committee for the Junior Prom, namely, William W. Ferris, Jr., chairman; William Moody, Mary Chase and John Hammond, favors; George A. Ormiston and George Fielding, music; William Kelleher and Bert Lee, decorations; Hyman Cokin and Thayer Chase, floor; Eric Osterlund and Virginia Lovejoy, patrons and patronesses; have not been idle and the finishing touches are being added to the plans for a Prom that promises to be one of the best ever held at Rhode Island.

Jewelry Favors

There isn't a thing that has been neglected and if the Juniors are favored with fair weather, everything should turn out for the best. The favors have been selected from a line of jewelry which is certain to please the ladies, and it are pleased, everyone is assured of a good time. The committee has something new in mind in the way of decorations. It has planned to change the gymnasium into a Spanish courtyard with a special novelty that will provide a striking lighting effect.

Chi O Cabaret Tomorrow Night

Lippitt Hall to Be Scene of Annual Night Club Event; Many Feature Presentations to Be Offered

Chi Omega will give its fourth annual cabaret tomorrow night at 7:30 in Lippitt Hall. This has always been a much looked forward to social event on the campus.

Lippitt Hall will be transformed into a typical cabaret with small tables bordering the dance floor. The walls will be covered with life-size figures of dancers done in silhouette. The tables will be covered with various colored tops with candles as a lighting effect.

Several attractions are on the bill including "The High Hatters" starring Bert Lee, Bobby Master-son, Winifred Francis, Mary Clancy and Florence Allen. Miss Allen, who is also head waitress, will direct her corps of Apache waitresses in the serving of the fare. In true night-club fashion the entertainment will be given between dances. The feature of the evening will be a waltz of a mysterious dancing team, the identity of which will not be revealed until their appearance.

Card tables can be reserved from any of the waitresses and general dancing will be on the program to music furnished by Sammy Johnson and his "Eskimo-Pie Eaters."

The chairman of the cabaret, Gladys Whipple, assures us that this year's entertainment will be bigger and better than ever.

Huxley Says,—

"That man, I think, has had a liberal education who has been so trained in his youth that his body is the ready servant of his will, and does with ease and pleasure all the work that, as a mechanism, it is capable of; whose intellect is a clear, cold, logic engine, with all its parts of equal strength, and in smooth working order; ready, like a steam engine, to be turned to any kind of work, and spin the gossamers as well as forge the anchors of the mind; whose mind is stored with a knowledge of the great and fundamental truths of Nature and of the laws of her operations; one who, no stunted ascetic, is full of life and fire, but whose passions are trained to come to heel by a vigorous will, the servant of a tender conscience; who has learned to love all beauty, whether of Nature or of art, to hate all vileness, and to respect others as himself."

(From the essay on "A Liberal Education")

Here and There

Colleges, colleges, and no end of comment on the value of college education. For a young man planning to enter business as a career, a college education is a four-year handicap, according to Floyd L. Carlisle, prominent business man and himself a college graduate. There are those who would not think of sending their sons and daughters to college, but they are the ones, we find, who watch most closely the run of events among colleges, because, so much depends on what the college man says and does. If the B. U. men decide that "Spats and Derbies" are O. K., every proper business man goes straight ahead and manufactures more spats and derbies. When it is announced that the annual whisker-growing contest of the Sophomore class of California is on, then the barbers know that this is the best time of the year for them to take their vacations. Not even the senators and representatives can proceed with the function of government until they determine just where the various colleges stand with respect to prohibition—wet or dry! Well now that we've convinced ourselves that colleges do amount to something, let's not be afraid to re-echo college happenings.

Worst of all, we are startled with the news that the honor system is to be abolished at Rogers. Next, and this might be consoling to some of us with whom spring fever and extra-curricular activities have interfered to the extent that four years are not long enough, Northeastern University plans are going through to effect five-year programs for the obtaining of B. S. degrees with specification in Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and Business Administration. Five-year men, you're not so bad after all—merely disciples of a new plan.

The Interfraternity Governing Board at Brown has adopted second semester rushing. The freshmen are merely to visit the fraternities at specified times during the first semester.

CLASSES

"Some college classes are like dreams, in that you have to be asleep to enjoy them".

All students at North Carolina State College must pay fifty cents for each class they cut. How about that as a method for Rhode Island State to keep up her scholastic standing, and incidentally, to secure the means for athletic needs, and the like?

Ohio State University has introduced a six-hour course in "How to Study." It is compulsory for all freshmen who are on probation.

The students of McGill University have formed a Glider Club. They have purchased the necessary equipment and are building their own gliders.

CO-EDUCATION

The B. U. profs say that co-education is more than successful.

College women think quicker than men in the opinion of Professor John F. Frizzell, coach of debating at Penn State College. He cited a trial debate between the men's and the women's teams as proof for the women completely outclassing the men. Co-eds, Prof. Frizzell believes, stand out particularly in rebuttal where quick thinking is of paramount importance.

Co-ed missionaries at the Utah State have decided they are as good as the Friars and are organizing a club to further their interests.

For the Home—Ecs.—Columbia test defines the model wife's virtues as gritless spinach and economic wizardry.

It may seem strange, but the students of the University of Southern California were recently in riot when a traffic officer tried to arrest a co-ed on a charge of reckless driving.

We see by the Lehigh "Brown and White" that the city of Bethlehem has passed an ordinance which makes it unlawful to offer rides to the fair sex. Not only that, but it will cost any student indulging in said practice the handsome sum of fifty dollars.

As usual, the co-eds have received the whole pie. All we can say is that it's your turn next week, eds.

May 6, 1924—The Beacon advertises Rhody with an estimate of $268 per year for expenses (that leaves enuf for spending money and a fur coat).

May 7, 1924—The Glee Club, under the direction of Everett P. Christopher tells the world through WJAR that Rhody is on the map.

A challenge to the imagination

To provide telephone service of national scope, to manage and develop properties valued at more than three and three-quarter billion dollars, to maintain an organization of more than 400,000 people at highest efficiency — such work spurs the creative thought of men of the highest calibre.

Within the Bell System many have achieved outstanding success. Their work is not only in pure science and engineering, but in organization and management, in salesmanship, financial administration, economics and the many other fields vital to the growth of so great an enterprise.

Because of these men the Bell System is able to furnish the best all-around telephone service in the world. A progressive policy puts at their disposal every aid that a great organization can give.

Goff, the next man to bat, hit into a double play when the ball rolled in front of the plate, which was caught by Gerrish, who touched the plate and threw Goff out at first base. In spite of the fact that a hundred per cent perfect Prom is promised, there will be no increase in the price of tickets, which will be six dollars. Every part of the committee has been active and the following patrons and patronesses have been obtained: Prof. and Mrs. John Barlow, Capt. and Mrs. Freeman, Dr. and Mrs. Weldin, Prof. Herbert Emery and Mrs. Whitney and Prof. and Mrs. Schock.

With these indications of a wonderful time and knowledge of the fact that the Class of 1931 has a way of putting things across, the Prom of this year should be one long remembered.

PLAY IS SUCCESSFUL

We hope Mrs. Rawlings will continue to produce entertainments of this type in the future and that she will receive even more of the cooperation of the students than she had in her latest success, "Little Rhody's 1930 Revue."
